About This Game

N++ is a fast-paced, momentum-based platformer about darting around obstacles, narrowly evading enemies and collecting gold in a beautiful minimalist landscape. It's the first N game on PC since 2004 and we've spent those 12 years perfecting the platformer.

N++ is all about using your momentum to complete levels and get high scores, but in this sci-fi world, there's a slew of inadvertently homicidal enemy robots trying to prevent you from completing your goal.

Through the hand-crafted (NOT procedurally generated) levels, you'll experience platforming at its most intense. Using only your fluid movement, you need to 'solve' each level and get to the exit.

In addition to the lengthy and challenging single player campaign, we've packed a ton of features into this one last entry in the N series including:

- 4,340 hand-made levels
- Custom Levels, Level Editor & Global Level Sharing
- Leaderboards and replays for every level (even the ones you make)
- Local Co-op Mode (up to 4 players)
- Local Competitive Mode (up to 4 Players)
- Hardcore Mode, an intense single-player challenge which only the best ninjas will survive
- Intense, hidden Secret challenges to discover
- 63 tracks by top electronic artists

-119 different color palettes let you customize the game's look and keep it fresh every time you play
-and more!

Play a little, or a lot -- there's no skill ceiling, so you can always get better and better. N++ is a game that has enough bite-sized gameplay to last you a lifetime.

I bought this game two years ago, it's always been a blast. Haven't played it much, but the original browser version was super epic and a great fun way to kill time in school.

Only thing is, I'm wondering if anybody else is having a problem submitting scores? Just completed an entire level\round and was infinitely stuck at the submitting score part.... This game DEFINES The genre. Excellent is an understatement for how well put-together this is.

You want to be a ninja _ no matter who you are. This game lets you do that. Your running generates momentum. As a ninja, your main momentum & Inertia comes from ground hopping, and holding that button in. You will get to your maximum height, and eventually begin dropping.

This is the Chuck Norris Brand of the Platformer Genre\u2122

-If you have not played N++ - ever- this is the best place to start - also , it's about the length of time that you press a button. Not just how much pressure on the controllers.

Super Meat Boy was created because he wanted to a ninja for his Super Meat Girl

Mario was actually playing this game to save Luigi from the princess who was brainwashed by her into believing that Mario was actually Bowzer everytime he arrived.

It's really good. Beyond Good. Beyond Great. Excellent.

Global Scoreboards -

Tonnes +_ tonnes of levels.

You can also create your own levels

There are many ways to play.

it's all up to you

Will have a Video up covering this shortly :)
